

GM Strike Likely to Be a Lone One

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Prospects of a lengthy strike by the United Auto Workers against General Motors Corp. loomed larger today but three railroads reported operations near normal after picketing Tuesday.

Both sides in the GM strike were to meet briefly today to set an agenda for future talks as UAW President Leonard Woodcock was to take to the picket lines in Detroit to rally rank and file members.

Serious bargaining was put off until next Tuesday. Top UAW leaders go on a nationwide tour Thursday to meet representatives of the 157 striking bargaining units.

The union called the walkout of nearly 344,000 workers Tuesday in the United States and Canada to back contract demands. Production continues at Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. where contracts also have expired.

In the rail showdown, federal Judge Howard Corcoran ordered the four AFL-CIO unions to show cause at a hearing today why they should not be held in contempt for violating his

WR Sees Loss Threat to Two Party System

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has solicited the support of the news media in a package of data he has distributed to newspapers, television stations and radio stations in the state.

The material contains information on state development since Rockefeller took office.

The Republican governor seeks a third term against two other general election nominees, Dale Bumpers of the Democratic party and Walter Caruth of the American party.

In a cover letter to news executives marked in for receipt of the GOP material, Rockefeller said he believes the "record alone justifies my seeking a third term."

"But there is also another compelling reason," says the letter, which appears to have been personally signed by the governor.

"Even with the progress made, the two-party system in Arkansas is seriously threatened unless the Republican party has at least two more years to consolidate its gains and to continue the growth and development resulting from occupying the high offices of state government," the letter says.

temporary restraining order prohibiting the strike.

The order was issued moments before the strike was to have begun Tuesday and union leaders said it was late in the afternoon before all its members could be notified.

Pickets disrupted service for several hours on the Southern Pacific, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio railroads. All three lines said picketing had ended by nightfall.

Meanwhile, Asst. Labor Secretary W. J. Usery, a top administration labor troubleshooter, scheduled separate meetings with union and railroad representatives over the wage dispute that triggered the strike call.

To Be Strict on Fraud in Insurance

By JIM MCCALL
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A. Gene Sykes of North Little Rock, the new state Insurance Commissioner, stressed today that he would be "very strict, but fair" on insurance mismanagement and fraud in Arkansas.

Sykes, 53, who has about 20 years of experience in the insurance business, was appointed to the $15,000-a-year post Tuesday by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. He succeeds Alan W. Horne, who resigned from the job to take an appointment as judge of the criminal division of Little Rock Municipal Court.

Sykes said the insurance commissioner's office had been "run very well and ably" and there would probably be very little change in its operations. "I spent quite a bit of time Tuesday visiting with the staff in the office and I am very well pleased with what I saw," Sykes said. "I foresee no difficulties at all."

Sykes pointed out that Horne and John Norman Harkey, who served as insurance commissioner before Horne, had reputations for being strict on enforcing the state's insurance laws.

"I don't intend to ease up a bit," said Sykes. "I intend to serve the insurance-buying public of Arkansas. There's no other way to operate."

He said he was familiar with the problems in the insurance industry, but admitted that he didn't have all the solutions.

"I will maintain a good working relationship with the companies and with the public and we will work hard to find the solutions," Sykes said.

He expressed a desire to work closely with the news media "in an effort to further educate the buying public of Arkansas on insurance so they can help solve their problems."

Kiwanis Club Speaker

Miss Ellen Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McDowell Turner and a Junior at Hendrix College, was guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of Hope Kiwanis Club.

Miss Turner is a member of the Hendrix College Choir that has just returned from a months tour of Europe which began in Luxembourg August 5th and ended in Metz, France September 10th. The longest stay in any one place was in Vienna, Austria, August 13th to 31st, where the Hendrix Choir, along with other choirs, attended a symposium at the Institute of European Studies, the symposium including other cultural studies as well as music.

The several choirs gave individual concerts. In addition a concert was given by a specially selected choir with members chosen from the various choirs represented. Miss Turner was in the selected group chosen for this concert.

On her return to the States Miss Turner left her tour group in New York and joined the group from Hope attending the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, coming home with Hope group in their chartered bus.

Guests at Tuesday's Kiwanis meeting were Mrs. McDowell Turner, Mrs. Henry Haynes, and Miss Margie Waddle, all of Hope. Miss Waddle also made a tour of Europe earlier this summer, and commented briefly on her trip.

UN Talks of Problem of Hijacking

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Talk at the opening session of the 25th U.N. General Assembly centered on the No. 1 international problem of the day — how to stop hijackings of airliners.

Philippine Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo told a reporter after the session began Tuesday that he was "exploring the possibility of having other delegations cosponsor with me a supplementary item on the agenda" dealing with an anti-hijacking proposal made by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in a speech Monday night.

Thant suggested that an international tribunal be set up especially to try hijackers and that all countries agree to extradite hijacking suspects for prosecution in the name of the "people of the world."

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost said Tuesday that the question of a tribunal was "complicated," but added, "We ought to look into the hijacking situation and see what we can do."

The hijacking question is not on the assembly's agenda, but it could be added as a supplementary item by majority vote.

The outgoing president of the assembly, Angie Brooks of Liberia, raised the hijacking question soon after she called the new session to order Tuesday.

She called the hijacking of aircraft and the kidnapping and killing of diplomats a new threat to international peace and security, and she called for measures "to avert such criminal acts."

She presided until the assembly elected Norwegian Ambassador Edvard Hambro president of the three-month session.

Hambro is the 50-year-old son of the last president of the League of Nations assembly, the late Carl Hambro.

The only announced candidate, he was elected by 122 votes, with one of the 126 U.N. members absent, one abstaining, and one each voting for Ambassadors Jamil Baroudy of Saudi Arabia and Jose Pinera of Chile.

Hambro told the assembly that with the world facing overpopulation, pollution, conflict and a threat of nuclear annihilation, "the fragmentary society of yesterday is obsolete."

He said he foresaw an "organized and integrated community ... under more effective rules of international law," involving a "steadily expanding network of international organizations" from which "no nation must be excluded."

This year's assembly session has as its motto "Peace, Justice and Progress."

Commission to Name a Third Member

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Election Commission will meet Thursday to name the third members of county election commissions.

The commission will make the choices from a list of five names submitted by each of the county Democratic committees. The third members will serve on each county commission with the local chairmen of the Republican and Democratic parties.

The issue of who got to make the appointments, the Republicans or a majority of the members of the state Election Commission, aroused controversy in 1968, sparking legislation in 1969 to prevent a recurrence.

The Republicans contended in 1968 that the party designated by state law as the "majority" party got to make the appointments. The GOP claimed appointive powers on grounds that the "majority" party was the party of the governor, Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, and not the party holding the most constitutional offices.

The Democrats had the edge in state office holders, and therefore on the Election Commission, since the seven constitutional officers as well as the state Democratic and Republican chairmen are members of the commission.

Yellville Has a New Industry

By GEORGE SMITH
Baxter Bulletin

YELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Yellville has a new industry, a two-man operation that manufactures cars.

Howard Evans of Yellville, owner of the Yellville Tire and Retread store, recently expanded his operation to include the construction of Arkansas' answer to the dune-buggy — the Ridge-Runner.

Evans named the custom vehicle "Ridge-Runner" because "we've sure got plenty of ridges in this area. I just didn't think that a name like dune-buggy would be practical."

Evans, with the assistance of his one-man work force, Dale Watkins, converts slightly damaged Volkswagens into "lightweights, easy-to-handle, practical, do-everythings." The finished product, a short, squat vehicle with a flowing fiberglass body, is an ideal all-around vehicle for this area, Evans said.

"The Ridge-Runner will fit into the profile of North Arkansas," he said. "It can be used as a delivery car, or as a small Jeep on a farm or just to run to the store. It has no limitations as to its versatility."

Open only a short time, Howard's Custom Car shop has already turned out two Ridge-Runners.

Two additional vehicles are in various stages of completion.

The first step in construction of a Ridge-Runner is to "chop" the chassis by cutting the frame in half and shortening it. A shorter chassis "makes for better handling and gives a shorter turn radius," he said.

The total weight of a finished Ridge-Runner is about 1,300 pounds, he said, with almost all of the weight resting on the back wheels, giving the small car "tremendous traction."

The basic production model sells for about $1,200, but "with all the options, different body styles, types of wheels, the sky's the limit as far as this car is concerned," he said. A person could order a $7,000

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Can a talented, appealing comedian like Don Knotts carry enough weight to star in his own comedy-variety hour? If the first sample of his new NBC series on Tuesday night is typical, the answer, regrettably, is no.

"The Don Knotts Show," with the star reacting to everything like an angry wet rooster, dragged dismally through the comedy sequences. With guest stars Anthony Newley, Eydie Gorme and a singing group, the Carpenters, it did pick up some steam during the musical numbers.

Don—and Newley, too—were trapped in silly and aimless sketches. They played two members of a dance trio whose female partner had quit. Don was a know-nothing ventriloquist who couldn't throw his voice and got his hand stuck inside his dummy. He was an innocent talked into buying a "killer" dog who stood around wagging his tail affectionately. None of them was very amusing.

The comedian has chosen to play his host role as a character rather like his Barney Fife in the old "Andy Griffith Show"—vain, bumptious and full of temper. It was more attractive in the old context, however, because the warm, dominating character played by Knotts was there to soften the edges. Of course, it was just the first show and maybe things will improve as the production becomes down—but only if Knotts gets a lot more help from his writers.

ABC, which will introduce 10 of its 11 new shows next week, retan Tuesday night "The Immortal" in its "Movie of the Week" spot. The 90-minute show was the pilot for its new action series of the same name and, shown now, served as an introduction and reminder of the format. It is a story about a man with auricular blood type that makes him immune to disease and age. In the pilot, the hero has a steady girl—who will be married off to someone else in an early episode. So will the wicked old tycoon who had goons trying to capture the good guy for use as a living blood bank.

Recommended tonight: "storefront Lawyers," CBS, 7:30-8:30 EDT, premiere of a courtroom series; "The Men from Shiloh," NBC, 7:30-9, return of the radically remodeled and renamed "Virginian"; "McCloud," NBC, 10-11, premiere of a six-episode series starring Dennis Weaver which is part of a set called "Four in One."

Presidential election returns were first broadcast Nov. 2, 1920, when station KDKA, Pittsburgh, Pa., broadcast the results of the Harding-Cox election.

Picks Texas to Defend Nat'l Title

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Texas and Penn State, who finished the 1969 college football season each claiming they were No. 1 but unable to prove it against the other, open their 1970 campaigns this weekend with long winning streaks on the line and both coaches crying the blues.

The defending national champion Longhorns, with 20 consecutive victories but only ranked second so far this year, entertain California, which opened a week ago by losing to Oregon 31-24.

Penn State, the 1969 runners-up, open at home against a much-improved Navy eleven, which battered Colgate 45-22 last Saturday. The Nittany Lions boast the nation's longest winning streak (22) and unbeaten (30) streaks.

But the best game of the weekend could be the Saturday night clash in Los Angeles between third-ranked Southern California and ninth-rated Nebraska, two bruising titans who usually have their hitting clothes on.

California at Texas — "I thought this team had the same potential as last year's," says Darrell Royal, "but I don't think that now. It's the same story on offense and defense. I'm concerned about depth. Now I know our opposition is not a bit concerned about our problems after we've won 20 in a row, but we are too weak in depth to withstand any kind of injury and be a contender."

Injuries are just what Royal's had during practice and his entire tight end corps has been wiped out. Like the opposition, this selector isn't a bit concerned with Royal's problems and picks ... Texas.

Navy at Penn State — A victory would give Penn State the longest unbeaten streak in the school's history. But Coach Joe Paterno isn't satisfied with his rebuilt defense and says the offense will have to carry the load for a while.

Penn State's other 30-game unbeaten skein was stopped by you guessed it—Navy. Will history repeat? No. Penn State it is.

Nebraska at Southern California — The beneficiaries in this one could be Army and Iowa, the next opponents, if the Cornhuskers and Trojans pound each other around hard enough. John McKay is gunning for a national title and the Trojans put on a championship show in whomping Alabama 42-21. Southern Cal.

Notre Dame at Northwestern — Ara Parseghian and Alex Agase spent eight years together at Northwestern and Agase took over when Parseghian left for Notre Dame. They've met four times since, with the Irish winning all four. Make it five. Notre Dame.

Minnesota at Missouri — Dan Devine is doing his best to downgrade his alma mater's football record with three wins and a tie. Make it four wins and a tie. Missouri.

Syracuse at Houston — The Orangemen will get an E for effort but the Cougars' E stands for Elmo, as in Wright, Houston.

UCLA at Pitt — OK, football fans. Last week this corner gave you Stanford over Arkansas. Despite a win under its belt, UCLA is hurting and the Pitt Panther is growing. Upset special of the week says ... Pitt.

Figures Year of the Rams in NFC Play

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — This will be the year of the Rams in the National Football Conference. After a series of late season disappointments, George Allen will keep the Los Angeles Rams on the ball right through January into the Super Bowl with a good chance of winning the world championship.

It won't be easy in the realigned NFC which has been split into three divisions with a playoff system that involves three winners and the best runner-up.

The exhibition season gave you a line on what to expect but it never is wise to base too much on the results of those August games when many coaches are trying rookies and installing a new system.

Apparently Joe Kapp, who led the Minnesota Vikings to the league title last year, is going to sit it out this season, leaving Gary Cuozzo in control of the Vikings. Cuozzo has the arm and the Vikes have the defense but it will be tough to repeat.

Here's the way it looks from here in three divisions:

Western — 1, Los Angeles. 2, Atlanta. 3, San Francisco. 4, New Orleans.

Central — 1, Minnesota. 2, Detroit. 3, Green Bay. 4, Chicago.

Eastern — 1, New York. 2, Dallas. 3, Washington. 4, St. Louis. 5, Philadelphia.

The way the playoffs are set up this year the Eastern champ (New York) will play the Western winners (Los Angeles) in one game. The Central winner (Minnesota) would meet the best second-place team (Dallas) in the other game. The two winners (Los Angeles and Minnesota) then would meet for the title.

One sure thing appears to be Gabriel is having a great pre-season and there is every reason to expect the Rams to roll. Only Atlanta appears to threaten in the division and they may not be quite up to that effort. San Francisco may have trouble shaking off New Orleans.

Anybody who thinks he knows what will happen in the blood-and-guts competition of the Central Division is out of his mind. We like the Vikings on the strength of that sturdy defense, particularly the front four, although the Detroit Lions could take it all if they can beat the injury jinx that already has cost them Heisman Trophy winner Steve Owens.

Green Bay has moved the ball well in the exhibitions but may have a few defensive problems in the secondary. When the Bears get their quarterback problem solved, they could be in the race, too.

The Giants in the East? Well, don't look at the won-lost 2-3-1 record. The Cowboys looked sick in losing five in a row and must go with Roger Staubach. Washington has a hot hand and could win everything if Sonny Jurgensen can stand the gauntlet for another full season.

Orioles on Verge of AL Title

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Writer
Earl Weaver laid on the victory champagne today while Bill Rigney toasted a loser.

Weaver's Baltimore Orioles whipped Washington 6-2 Tuesday night behind left-hander Dave McNally and moved within a 1-2 knockout punch of their second successive American League East championship.

Rigney's Minnesota Twins, zeroing in on the West Division title and a rematch with the Orioles in the pennant playoffs, downed California 7-5 in the opener of a day-night doubleheader but blew the second game 5-3, wasting a standout pitching performance by 145-pound southpaw Tom Hall.

"The little guy pitched his heart out, but I couldn't save it for him," Rigney said after a five-run California rally in the ninth left the Twins with half a loaf and a magic number of seven to nail the division crown.

Elsewhere, the New York Yankees swept a twin bill from Boston 8-6 and 3-2; Cleveland edged Detroit 4-3 and Oakland divided a doubleheader with Milwaukee, winning 6-5 after a 1-0 loss, Kansas City and the Chicago White Sox were rained out.

In the National League, Pittsburgh bombed Philadelphia 6-3; the Chicago Cubs beat St. Louis 5-3; Montreal stunned the New York Mets 5-4 in 10 innings; Houston upended Cincinnati 9-2; San Francisco blanked Atlanta 8-0 and Los Angeles nipped San Diego 5-4.

McNally checked the Senators on five hits for his 23rd victory of the season, matching teammate Mike Cuellar for the major league lead, as the Orioles reduced their magic number to two. Weaver promised to break out the champagne tonight should his club beat the Senators again and the second-place Yankees lose to Boston.

Boog Powell led the Baltimore attack with a double and his 34th homer.

Leo Cardenas' grand slam homer and a tie-breaking single by Jim Holt carried the Twins past the Angels in their afternoon game as reliever Stan Williams, celebrating his 29th birthday, picked up his 10th victory against one loss.

But Hall faltered in the nightcap, after blanking the Angels for eight innings and striking out 12, and the bullpen failed as Ron Perranoski was cuffed for three hits, including a decisive two-run double by pinch hitter Tony Gonzalez.

The split kept the Twins eight games in front of the second-place A's, who pulled out their nightcap at Milwaukee on Bert Campaneris' second homer of the game, a two-out, two-run wallop in the ninth. The Brewers took the opener on Skip Lockwood's two-hitter and a run-scoring single by Dave May.

Curt Blefary socked a three-run pinch homer in the ninth, completing the Yanks' sweep, after they capitalized on five Boston errors in the opener to snap a five-game losing streak. The Red Sox now have lost five in a row.

The Indians won their fifth straight on two-run homers by Vada Pinson and Duke Sims, the latter connecting in the seventh to wipe out a 3-2 Detroit lead.

Indians Are Working for Wichita S.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas State University football squad worked out in pads Tuesday in preparation for Saturday night's opening game at Wichita State University.

Indian Head Coach Bennie Ellender called for a strong kicking game after viewing films of the Wheatshockers' running attack.

"We worked especially hard on kickoffs and punting," said Ellender. "James Hamilton is really coming into his own as a punter."

Ellender said the Indians continue to show improvement.

Pirates Pull Game Ahead in National

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
One, two, three.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs and New York Mets are doing their number.

The names and places may change ... but the characters usually remain the same.

Willie Stargell stayed in character with a three-run homer that powered Pittsburgh over Philadelphia 8-3; Billy Williams did his hitting thing to pace Chicago over St. Louis 5-3 and Montreal tripped New York 5-4 on an uncharacteristic bad pitch by Jerry Koosman in the National League's dramatic East race Tuesday.

The Pirates thus pulled a full game ahead of the Cubs and Mets, who changed places after Tuesday's developments. Chicago is now second, less than a percentage point over third-place New York.

"I liked the way we bounced back after Sunday's game," said Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh, referring to Pittsburgh's 3-2 loss at Chicago when Matty Alou dropped a two-out fly in the ninth. "We disregarded Sunday and went out and played like nothing happened."

Williams, who capped that rally Sunday with a two-run double, took advantage of another misplayed ball to drive in the tie-breaking run Tuesday with a sixth-inning single.

"To win, you have to take advantage of the breaks," said Williams.

And Koosman, who let Tuesday's game get away by gifting the Expos with a wild-pitch tying run in the 10th before they scored the clincher, had this refrain:

"I'll probably replay that last wild pitch throughout the winter. It's the type of thing you can't forget."

Houston rolled over West Division-pacing Cincinnati 9-2, San Francisco hammered Atlanta 8-0 and the Los Angeles Dodgers edged San Diego 5-4 in other National League games.

In the American League, New York swept a twin-night doubleheader from Boston 8-6 and 3-2; Baltimore turned back Washington 6-2; Cleveland beat Detroit 4-3; Minnesota won the opener of a doubleheader from California 7-5 and the Angels took the second game 5-3; and Milwaukee and Oakland split a pair—the Brewers taking the opener 1-0 and the A's the second game 6-5. Rain washed out Chicago at Kansas City.

Bill Mazeroski, who had a solo homer along with Rich Hebner in Pittsburgh's long-ball offense at Philadelphia, expressed sentiments similar to Murtaugh's.

"We could have had a letdown after Sunday," the Pirates' magic-glove second baseman said, "it could have worked either way ... but it worked for the best."

Stargell's 30th homer off Barry Lersch got Pittsburgh off to a 3-0 lead in the first and Hebner and Maz jolted successive homers in the fifth.

The Cubs and Cards were 2-2 after five innings of their game when Glenn Beckert lifted a fly ball to right. Rookie Luis Melendez came charging in, stopped and retreated only to have the ball fall behind him for a wind-blown double.

Two pitches later, Williams winged home Beckert to snap the tie and the Cubs never looked back.

"When I'm going good, it doesn't make any difference who's pitching," said Williams, who also singled home an insurance run in the seventh.

"You don't get too many breaks from teams like the Cardinals, the Pirates or the Dodgers. They play sound, fundamental baseball. So if they make a mistake, you'd better jump on it or you won't get another opportunity."

John Bateman's bases-loaded single capped Montreal's two-run rally in the 10th that wiped out Tommy Agee's go-ahead homer in the top of the frame.

"Koosman had good control tonight," said New York Manager Gil Hodges. "He just started out wild in the 10th. We just couldn't close the game out—that's all."

Talking about the wild pitch that scored pinch-runner Boosts Day, Koosman said: "The ball never got to the plate. It was an 0-2 pitch that I didn't want to throw down the pike. It just bounced in the dirt. There was a chance for a play at the plate if the throw had been better. Duffy (Dyer) had to hurry his throw ... and I had to reach back for it."

After Day got the tying run in, Koosman intentionally walked Rusty Staub and Ron Fairly to fill the bases. Bateman then came through with the game-winning off reliever Ron Herbel.

Doug Rader unloaded a three-run homer in Houston's four-run fourth and the Astros went on to defeat the Reds, giving Larry Dierker his 14th victory.

Gaylord Perry pitched his third straight shutout for the Giants as he stopped slugging Atlanta on four hits.

Manny Mota capped a two-run rally with a ninth-inning, run-scoring single to center that gave the Dodgers their comeback victory over the Padres.

American Cup 1st Round to Intrepid

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Intrepid is the winner of the first race for the America's Cup.

And then again maybe she isn't.

Both the Americans and the Australians of Gretel II are protesting after Intrepid's 5-minute, 52-second victory Tuesday in the initial contest of the best-of-7 series.

The alleged foul occurred at the start.

But that was only the beginning of one of the most uproarious days in the history of the 119-year-old trophy.

Before the windy day was over there were these other developments:

1. Gretel II's forstay looked like a laundry line for six minutes after a disastrous spinnaker set.

2. Gretel II lost a man overboard.

3. Gretel II lost use of her main coffee grinder winches.

4. Gretel II showed she could conceivably win some races this month.

The protest is the first in Cup racing since 1934 when Britain's Endeavor claimed foul against the American J-boats, Rainbow, to no avail.

The NYRC Race Committee said it would announce its decision of Tuesday's protest at a news conference at 1 p.m. today.

If it decides in Gretel II's favor, it will be only the seventh victory for a foreign boat in the 69 races for the Cup. The United States has won all 20 prior challenges.

The disputed foul apparently occurred in a port-starboard situation about four minutes before the starting gun. The boat on the starboard tack has the right of way when converging with a port tack boat.

Nobody was talking publicly about the alleged foul, but Gretel II's skipper, Jim Hardy, evidently feels he had to avoid a collision while on starboard tack with Intrepid, skippered by Bill Ficker, apparently on port.

Red protest flags flew from the lower shrouds of the two 12-meter yachts.

Ficker to windward, and Hardy crossed the starting line almost together although Gretel II appeared to have closed off the wind briefly to avoid going over early.

It was a close race up the first leg into a stiff 18-20 knot easterly blow that carried a cold rain with it. There was little tacking and Intrepid held only a six-length lead rounding the first mark.

Gretel II started to set a spinnaker for the second leg, a reach, but it jammed halfway up and stayed jammed for six minutes. A stuck shackle prevented Gretel's crew from get-

Lineman of Week Loves Arkansas

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Pete Lazetich loves the folks down in Arkansas but it's doubtful if the feeling is mutual these days.

Lazetich, you see, a big ol' country boy from Billings, Mont., was one of the keys to the Stanford defense that played a large part in the Indians' 34-28 victory Saturday over fourth-ranked Arkansas.

A 6-foot-3, 236-pound defensive guard—actually he's one of the two inside men in Stanford's front four—made six unassisted tackles and helped out on another. You'll find many players with more impressive statistics, but the husky junior got to quarterback Bill Montgomery behind the line three times, knocked down a pass and threw the key block on Eric Cross' 61-yard punt return that gave Stanford a 27-0 lead. The block came 25 yards from where Lazetich originally started

Bobby Davis Patted by Hand of Fate

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

Somewhere, the hand of fate must have patted Bobby Davis on the back.

He started fall drills at Texas Christian University with a flock of other running backs, not knowing from day to day if he was a starter.

As last Saturday's football opener with the University of Texas at Arlington approached, head coach Fred Taylor said he had three starting backs and all would play equally.

Davis didn't figure in the original starting plans, but at the last minute Taylor decided to at least start out with Davis. It was Davis' first varsity start and he took the opportunity to play havoc with Taylor's theory.

The hefty junior ripped through UT-A defenses for 247 yards in 18 carries—including touchdowns of 13 and 39 yards in a 31-7 victory.

"I think I'll probably get to start again this week," said Davis, whose phenomenal debut as a starter earned him The Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week award.

In fact, Davis' heroics caused such ripples, he was also named the AP's national player of the week.

It would have been hard for Taylor to pull Davis after he got off to such a rocket start—he had 144 yards at halftime. So, Davis played all but the last five minutes.

"I don't really know what happened myself," Davis said. "Things just started going good and they just kept going."

Davis' performance was the third best single game rushing total in SWC history. He surpassed former Texas All-American Chris Gilbert on his final carry of the game.

"Someone figured out I needed two more yards to break Gilbert's record," Davis said. "So they sent me back in and I got three yards."

Davis' 247 yards puts him well ahead of the goal he set for himself before the season started—to gain 1,000 yards for the season.

"I hope I can keep this up," Davis said. "If I can get 100 or 150 yards per game I'll be satisfied, if we win."

Word of Davis' instant stardom didn't take long to spread and he's now living the life of a football hero. One change he doesn't mind too much.

"Ever since last Saturday's game, I've been getting calls from girls," he said.

Just as Davis was the guiding force in TCU's victory, Texas Tech defensive back Ken Perkins also played a decisive role in the Raiders' thrilling 21-14 victory over Tulane.

Perkins picked off a Tulane pass early in the fourth quarter when Tech was trailing 14-7, and raced 46 yards to paydirt. It tied the score and jerked Tech to a come-from-behind victory.

Perkins' performance earned him the AP's SWC Defensive Player of the Week honor.

Perkins said the Green Wave surprised the Tech defense by coming out in the I formation. The Raiders had expected to see a split backfield and more passing from Tulane.

"But I think our down linemen did a great job of picking it up," Perkins said. Tulane hurt us a couple of times early then we picked it up and the only time they scored was when (defensive back Joe) Bullard ran that punt back."

Bullard ran a Tech punt back 45 yards to set up the only touchdown scored by the Tulane offense. Bullard scored the other on a 50-yard interception return.

"I just happened to be in the right place at the right time," Perkins said of his own game-breaker. "I shook off the tight end and then only the quarterback was in front of me and (end Bruce) Dowdy took care of him."

Other offensive players receiving votes were quarterbacks Charles Napper of Texas Tech and Lex James of Texas A&M.

Other defensive nominees were Dowdy, tackle Wayne McDermott of Tech; end Jim Ryan of SMU; Rookie Berry of TCU.

Small Town to Attract Top Golfers

ROBINSON, ILL. AP — This small southeastern Illinois community of 8,000 will be overrun by most of the nation's top golfers this week as the PGA money trail leads to the $100,000 Robinson Open Golf Classic.

The 72-hole tournament opens Thursday at the Crawford Country Club with a field of about 140, including defending champion Bob Goalby.

Goalby's 1969 score of 273 was 15-under-par and one of his rounds included a course record 62.

Par has been lowered to 35-36-71 this time. The second hole, formerly a 267-yard par 4, was shortened to 232 and revamped for a tough standard three.

The rolling course is built around two lakes, is laced by a creek and hemmed by trees. It measures 6,625 yards.

Some of golf's biggest names, like Jack Nicklaus, will be missing because of other commitments.

But the field shooting for the $20,000 first prize still bristles with such talent in addition to Goalby as Orville Moody, Gay Brewer, George Archer, Deane Beman, Frank Beard, up-and-

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Take it from no less an authority than Willie Shoemaker, the world's winningest jockey, Fiddle Isle is a better grass course runner than Round Table.

Shoemaker, who has ridden 6,044 career winners, expects to prove his statement by bringing home Fiddle Isle the winner of the $125,000 prestigious United Nations Handicap at the Atlantic City Race Course today.

"Round Table was a top grass course runner, but I think Fiddle Isle is better," remarked Shoemaker Tuesday while enjoying a day off.

His statement is especially emphatic in view of the fact that Shoemaker twice won the United Nations in 1967 and 1969 with Round Table, a horse who won the national grass course title three straight years and finished his career with earnings of $1,749,869.

So far, Fiddle Isle, who didn't race as a 2-year-old, has won $363,095.

"Fiddle Isle is getting better all the time," continued Shoemaker.

"Fiddle Isle can run from wherever he is put," Shoemaker said. "He can run inside or outside, stay close up or come from far back."

Fiddle Isle is the top weight at 127 pounds for the invitational 1 3-16 miles on grass and will leave from the No. 6 post against Fort Marcy, Distinctive, Mister Diz, Chompin, Drumtop, War Censor, Mr. Leader, Cheval and Royal Tom. Pinjara was entered a running mate for Fiddle Isle, but is not expected to start.

Fort Marcy, Paul Mellon's sturdy 7-year-old, is the second high weight at 125 and, despite the praise of Fiddle Isle, the track handicapper, Sam Lewin, had made Fort Marcy the 2-1 morning line choice. Fiddle Isle is listed as the 3-1 second choice.

Richardson May Be Deal for Dolphins

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

For one of the National Football League's top wide receivers, Willie Richardson is running a pretty crazy pattern before the 1970 season begins.

The 30-year-old veteran caught 43 passes and averaged 15 yards a catch with Baltimore last season. That was good enough to get him traded to Pittsburgh for Roy Jefferson, last year's third best pass catcher with 67 receptions.

Then there was a brief walk out of the Steelers' camp in a money squabble he signed his contract, and he caught only four passes for 62 yards in three pre-season games.

So, Willie Richardson was on the move again Tuesday, this time to the Miami Dolphins. But the price for him now is only a high draft pick in 1971.

That price might be well worth it for the Dolphins, who already gave up their top 1970 pick—which turned out to be quarterback Mike Phipps—to Cleveland for ace receiver Paul Warfield, to go with their blooming young quarterback Bob Griese.

Richardson apparently had been beaten out of the starting job by rookie Ron Shanklin, a second round pick from North Texas State; second year man J.R. Wilburn, and Hubie Bryant, another rookie.

Without him, the Steelers still managed their best pre-season showing in many years with a 4-1 record.

Richardson thus is united with Miami coach Don Shula, who had him for seven years at Baltimore, where Richardson earned all-pro honors.

Richardson wasn't the only one moving Tuesday as NFL teams made their final cut to 40 players before the season opens this weekend. However, many of the others didn't know where they would go next. Like George Mira, the veteran quarterback.

Mira, who had asked to be traded several years ago by San Francisco when he couldn't beat John Brodie out of a job, was sent to Philadelphia last September, and now has failed to oust incumbent Norm Snead.

Mira was cut by the Eagles, who are attempting to trade him. The Eagles decided to keep rookie Rick Arrington, a free agent from Tulsa who looked good against Houston last week.

Mira completed only 25 of 76 games with five interceptions last year for Philadelphia.

Another veteran to get pink slips was Tom Nowatzke, Detroit's No. 1 draft choice in 1965 and a starter in the backfield several years ago. He failed in an attempted switch to linebacker.

Veteran running back Terry Cole was cut by Baltimore, and wide receiver Mike Turner, who grabbed 191 passes for 3,000 yards in seven years with the New York Jets, but lost his starting job in 1968, decided to retire. He will continue his career as a folk singer.

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (AP) — Defenseman Al Hamilton was the second serious casualty in the Buffalo Sabres' camp Tuesday, suffering a hairline fracture of the small bone in his left foot.

Hamilton stopped a shot by Jim Watson during a scrimmage by the National Hockey League club. Rookie goaltender Rocky Farr will lose at least 10 days of training camp with a fractured cheek bone suffered Monday.

CHICAGO (AP) — Santos' soccer team of Brazil opened its American tour with a 4-3 victory over the North American Soccer League All-Stars before 13,222 at Soldier Field.

The star attraction, Pele, the king of soccer failed to score, but left an unmistakable mark of his prowess by getting credit for three assists.

Iron Curtain Weightlifters Disqualified

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A mini cold war hovered over the World Weightlifting Championships today after officials Tuesday night disqualified five competitors—all from Iron Curtain countries—on charges of taking stimulants.

Delegation leaders from the Soviet Union, Poland and Hungary, the nations whose weightlifters were disqualified, threatened to quit the championships and take their squads home.

Among those charged with taking the stimulant phenylethylamine were Sandor Holczreiter of Hungary, who won the 1970 flyweight crown on the opening night Saturday.

Of the first three finishers in the flyweight and bantamweight divisions, only bantamweight king Mohammad Nassiri was not stripped of his medal.

Disqualified after urine specimen tests proved positive, in addition to Holczreiter, were flyweights Walter Szoltysek of Poland and V. Smetanin of the U.S.S.R. and bantamweights Imre Foldi of Hungary and Henry Trebicki of Poland.

The Associated Press Learned Pol's Mieczyslaw Nowak and Jan Wojnowski, 1-2 in the featherweight lifting Monday night, would be disqualified today for the same reasons.

Also to be ousted was the third-place finisher among the featherweights, defending champion Yoshiyuki Miyake of Japan.

Another Pole, Zbigniew Kaczmarek, also had a heavy cloud hanging over his crown after he dethroned fellow countryman Waldemar Baszanowski Tuesday night as the lightweight champ the initiative from the enemy, remained stalled 47 miles north of Phnom Penh by a powerful and well dug-in Communist force in the village of Taing Kauk.

Commanders of the drive have orders to blast through all enemy resistance on Route 6, running from Skoun north to Kompong Thom, the provincial capital surrounded by enemy troops and nearly captured twice by Communist forces during the past three months. The road is 50 miles long.

The Cambodian command was said to fear that canceling the operation now would be a major psychological blow to the nation's population in view of the propaganda buildup the offensive has been given. But combat commanders reportedly were far more worried about the possibility of disasters to their troops as the column pushed deeper into enemy-held territory.

One participant in the conference said there was a possibility that most of the divisional force could be cut off and made ineffective while other enemy forces took advantage of the absence of the Cambodians' reserves and struck elsewhere, possibly against Phnom Penh.

Cambodian troops in the lead element have already suffered serious casualties in their first fight with the enemy at Taing Kauk, only 17 miles north of Skoun, the point where the operation began 10 days ago.

fence after the first sweep, Dixon was nowhere to be seen. I found him lounging in a particularly heavy patch of tall oats, doing that teen-ager thing, nothing.

I also found that I had missed some rabbit brush on the way through, so I spent another 15 minutes or so doubling back and clouting the plants that had escaped me.

And so it went for a full three hours or more—swing, miss; swing, foul tip; swing, hit. Next plant, ditto.

On the final sweep through the oats, I really felt elated. Nothing to this farmer bit.

Then I looked back, and with that glance I knew I really hadn't won.

Either I had missed a lot of rabbit brush or those pesky plants were coming up as fast as we knocked them down.

And all I had to show for it were blisters—one on the little finger of my left hand; two on my ring finger, one broken; one on my middle finger; and two on my forefinger.

Six blisters, an aching back and still enough green and yellow plants on the five acres of the Hubbe farm to screen all the jack rabbits in Crook County, Oregon.

EGYPT

French proposal of 1969.

The Big Four's ambassadors to the United Nations have continued meetings in New York to discuss the Middle East—their last meeting was Monday—but emphasis shifted to Jarring's peace efforts after the U.S. plan was accepted by Egypt, Israel and Jordan.

The American plan called for a 90-day cease-fire and independent talks between special U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring and representatives of Egypt, Israel and Jordan, the principal warring nations. Israel, claiming Egypt had violated the cease-fire by moving anti-aircraft missiles into a standstill zone along the Suez Canal, withdrew from the talks Sept. 6 with a demand that the missiles be removed.

Riad said Egypt believes "the American initiative has never started since it was practically rejected by Israel from the first moment."

Regarding the cease-fire, the foreign minister said: "Egypt accepted the temporary cease-fire to facilitate the Jarring mission. If Ambassador Jarring could start his work to implement the U.N. Security Council resolution of November, 1967, then we would welcome him to cooperate fully with Ambassador Jarring and continue to give him all facilities needed."

Like the French plan, a settlement under the U.S. proposal would be based on the resolution, which called for Israeli withdrawal from Arab territory occupied in the 1967 war and for Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist within secure boundaries.

An official broadcast of Radio Cairo warned Tuesday that continued American arms and financial aid to Israel will have "grave consequences more serious than the mere collapse of the Middle East peace efforts."

Many More Questions Unanswered

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — A State College of Arkansas official said Tuesday that a recent audit conducted by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was only a series of questions the college has not yet answered.

The HEW report indicated that $112,000 in federal funds had been misused by SCA officials. The audit also questioned the use of an additional $83,625 in salaries and indirect program costs.

"I am optimistic that we will reduce the amount in question to a small fraction of that listed in the report," said William H. Osborne, director of research at SCA. "And, my optimism is based on success—not hope."

Osborne said that a week ago the college "received notice that a question which appears in the audit report will be resolved in the college's favor. Since this question amounted to $20,000, the actual amount is $92,350."

Osborne stressed the report's recommendations are "questions, not decisions."

The federal audit, a 40-page document, noted more than 33 specific expenditures it said were of an irregular nature according to HEW guidelines. They included:

—Purchase of library books not related to institutes for which they were paid.

—Payment to students not enrolled in the institute for which they were paid.

—Expenditures for an unauthorized luncheon.

—Undocumented field trips, including traveling expenses to an English institute in Houston, Tex., and a trip to Hattiesburg, Miss.

—Overcharges of $13,400 for use of the college's audio visual services for federal programs.

—Misappropriated salaries, including the application of a salary to program costs, and the apparent drawing by one instructor of his full salary and the greater part of another salary.

Osborne said most of the expenditures criticized were for programs—some of them begun on a crash basis at HEW's urging—for which guidelines were only recently issued.

The SCA Board of Trustees is expected to meet Wednesday morning.

CAMPUS TALK

strations. Signs and banners were banned from the field-house, site of the President's speech.

But there appeared little likelihood of a confrontation on the quiet and conservative 14,500-student campus at Manhattan, unmarked by any significant student protest last year.

After the Kansas speech, the schedule sent the President and Mrs. Nixon flying to Chicago for meetings with Midwestern editors and broadcasters.

The forum for Nixon's campus speech was an annual public affairs lecture honoring 83-year-old Alfred M. Landon, former Republican governor of Kansas and candidate for president in 1936.

Pat Bosco, president of the Kansas State student body, was quoted before Nixon arrived as being confident the President would not be confronted with violent reaction but rather with "constructive dissent."

Nixon last appeared on a university campus May 28 when hecklers were out-shouted by supporters at a revival session led by the Rev. Billy Graham at the University of Tennessee stadium.

The Chicago plans were for Nixon to play host to publishers, editors and broadcasters invited by the White House to a not-for-quotation background briefing by key Nixon aides on affairs at home and abroad.

The President and Mrs. Nixon arranged to stay overnight at Chicago's Sheraton Blackstone Hotel. Thursday morning, the President meets with the editorial board of the common-ownership Chicago Sun-Times and Daily News, and, in the afternoon, the editorial board of the Chicago Tribune and Chicago Today, also operating under common management.

The Nixons are due back in Washington Thursday evening. The latest Nixon foray into the Midwest, while ostensibly nonpolitical, could not be divorced from the off-year election campaign.

HUMPHREY

Philbin, 72, a 28-year House veteran and second senior Democrat on the Armed Services Committee, was ousted from Congress by the Rev. Robert F. Drinan, 47, a Jesuit priest who ran on an antiwar platform.

In Maryland, veteran Rep. George H. Fallon, 68, chairman of the House Public Works Committee, was unseated by Paul S. Sarbanes, 37, a state legislator from Baltimore. But Rep. Samuel D. Friedel, 72, chairman of the House Administration Committee, won a squeaker over Parran J. Mitchell with a final, but unofficial, count of 23,491 votes to 23,309.

Humphrey, 59, scored a smashing 3-1 margin victory over black studies instructor Earl D. Craig Jr., 31, to capture the Democratic nomination for the Minnesota Senate seat being vacated by Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy.

Humphrey's Nov. 3 GOP foe will be Rep. Clark MacGregor, 47, who easily outdistanced a lone opponent. Polls show Humphrey running ahead of MacGregor in his bid to return to the Senate, where he served for 16 years until elected vice president in 1964.

Jackson, 58, jumped into an early 7-1 margin lead over Carl Maxey, a 46-year-old Spokane attorney who said he will announce Friday whether he will support Jackson in November. State Sen. Charles Elicker, 44, a Bainbridge Island nursing home operator backed by top Republican leaders, led the GOP primary.

Tydings, 42, trailed perennial office-seeker George P. Mahoney, 69, on early returns from Maryland's rural counties. But once the tally mounted from Montgomery and Prince Georges counties in the Washington suburbs and the city of Baltimore, the liberal senator jumped into the lead and pulled away.

The senator's November opponent will be freshman Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., 43, son of the man Tydings unseated in 1964. Beall overwhelmed two opponents.

Kennedy, 38, will be opposed by Josiah Spaulding, a liberal Republican and former Massachusetts GOP chairman. He defeated John D. McCarthy, a conservative, in the Republican senatorial primary.

Pastore, 63, overwhelmed a minor opponent. His Republican rival, the Rev. John J. McLaughlin, 43, a Jesuit priest, was unopposed.

The Massachusetts Democratic contest was the only close race for governor. In Maryland, Mandel, 50, named by the legislature after Spiro T. Agnew was elected vice president, swamped four foes in the Democratic primary, while C. Stanley Blair, 42, formerly Agnew's top aide, easily defeated two rivals in the GOP race.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

Dear Helen: I think something should be done about the driving habits of parking lot and public garage attendants.

I work in a mid-town Manhattan building which houses a garage. I must pass the entrance going to and from lunch. Yesterday I luckily stopped just in time when I saw a car whizzing out of the garage. On the way back from lunch this same attendant barely missed me, and when he saw my grimace, he motioned me on with "What's the matter, lady?"

I asked a man who looked like the dispatcher why these people couldn't be more careful and at least beep their horns.

"The customers want cars fast. It's the nature of the business," was his inane reply. "Never mind the customers," said I. "Think about the pedestrians. You don't want bodies all over the place, do you?"

I'm sure other big city residents have the same experience over and over again.

Outside of getting run down so we can sue, what can we do? — ELEANOR

Dear Eleanor:

In my city (Sacramento, Calif.) a letter of complaint to the garage owner would give attendants pause — and you the right of way. But in Fun City where it's every driver for himself and the devil take the pedestrian (or anything else in his path), well, I'd still write that letter, but I'd also proceed with extreme caution. Good luck! — H. Dear Helen:

How do you tactfully and gracefully break up a party when the hour gets late. — YAWNING

Adults usually start getting the message when you turn lights off here and there. To close down a teen party, try turning the lights ON! — H.

Dear Helen:

This guy I know is hooked on this "Let's Touch" therapy. He goes to extremes. Now he's insisting that you're only "sincere" when you look eyeball to eyeball with the person you're talking to, and he bellies up to me and breathes in my face while patting me on the arm and elsewhere.

He spouts about searching for the soul through the eyes, and tells me I look away and back off because I've got something to hide. — WHO'S RIGHT?

Dear Who:

He sounds a little strange to me. Maybe you SHOULD hide something from him — like yourself. — H.

Dear Helen:

About the baby sitter who said five out of ten of her male employers were flirts: We solve this problem by insisting that the wife bring our daughter home from her babysitting jobs.

It's really safer in several ways, as the woman usually isn't drunk when she comes home from a party, but the man is often not safe behind the wheel, liquorwise or pass-wise. — MRS. J.B.

Actor's Son on Narcotics Charge

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The son of actor Ray Milland has been charged with possession of heroin.

Police said Daniel David Milland, 30, was charged after officers found four bags of a substance identified as the narcotic in his motel room.

Milland posted $500 bond and was released pending further court action.

In Los Angeles, actor Milland said, "I know nothing about it. I'd rather not talk about it." He said he did not know where his son lived and hadn't seen him for six or seven months.

AP&L is a clockwatcher.

Your electric clock is accurate within a couple of seconds just about all the time. The electric clock is a special kind of motor which keeps time with the generators of our interconnected power system—if the generators speed up all clocks gain, if they slow down all clocks lose. BUT RARELY OVER TWO SECONDS EITHER WAY. When the accumulated system frequency variation is over two seconds, a central time monitor issues orders to all the interconnected power plants of the US to increase or reduce speed until all clocks are back on Naval Observatory Time.

So over a period of years, your electric clock is rarely more than two seconds off the correct time, and we have gone as long as three months without the necessity of a deliberate time correction. How is that for control on a nationwide interconnected power system?

Not perfect but almost.

Pornography Report Suit Is Settled

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A suit against the President's Commission on Pornography has been settled out of court, allowing release of the commission's hotly debated report Sept. 30.

Charles H. Keating Jr., President Nixon's only appointee on the study group, dropped his effort Monday to get a court order against the commission's recommendation for repeal of all U.S. adult censorship laws. He won the right to file an additional 66 pages as a minority report and to submit technical reports. Keating said he has asked a congressional investigation of his contention the commission report defies "Congress' mandate to find ways to stop pornography, not increase it."

As part of the settlement the commission majority headed off litigation it feared could tie up the report in the courts until after the commission goes out of business Sept. 30 and possibly prevent its ever being published. Keating denied he had tried to suppress the report. "For damn sure we want the report out," he said in an interview. "It gives us an opportunity to make our point."

He said the report will force debate by Congress and the public whether the United States should follow Denmark's lead in liberal pornography laws or maintain what he called its leadership "in the morality of the Western world."

The commission majority recommends repeal of U.S. laws against showing or selling pornography to adults. The majority contends there is no public consensus to support such laws, norly report will urge Presidential legislation of morality is unwarranted and pornography does not cause sex crimes or other social harm. It recommends laws against exposure of youngsters to obscene pictures, public display of such pictures or their use in unsolicited mail advertisements. It also recommends a "massive sex re-education" program, in part to help build an informed public consensus on pornography.

All 18 members of the commission except Keating were appointed during the Johnson administration. Keating said his 216-page minority report will urge President Nixon and Congress to support a law leaving pornography decisions to state courts and prohibiting federal courts—including the U.S. Supreme Court—from reversing them.

Keating, a Cincinnati lawyer and founder of Citizens for Decent Literature, Inc., said he has written 150 congressmen urging an investigation of the commission.

He said the investigation should go into his charge that studies supporting the recommendation to repeal adult censorship laws were contracted without all commissioners' approval or knowledge.

Few Attending Earle School

EARLE, Ark. (AP)—Schools reopened here Monday but only about one-third of the enrollment attended classes. The city's schools were closed last week following racial disturbances that left several persons injured at Earle.

School officials said most of those who attended classes Monday were white. There are 975 blacks in the school district and 525 white students.

Because of the small number of pupils attending, classes for all grades were held at Earle High School.

The Sims team of Sims, Karn, Bruce and Jacoby dominated contract play in 1931. In 1933 Bruce and Jacoby formed a team called the Four Aces that enjoyed the same success. It finally broke up when Jacoby entered the Navy the day after Pearl Harbor.

When the master-point plan was adopted Dave Bruce became life master number one. Dave was not the best card player of his day but he was definitely the best bidder. In addition he was a keen psychologist and always knew what was going on at the table.

Today's hand was played in the Mixed Team championship of 1934. Dave sat West and was on lead against six spades.

It is pretty good general policy to lead the unbid suit against any contract. Furthermore a five-card suit headed by queen-jack-nine ranks fairly high up on anyone's list of good suits to lead.

In addition the man who leads from king-small against a slam contract would usually be a candidate for a strait jacket but Dave led his king of diamonds. East overtook with the ace and cashed his queen for the setting trick.

Dave didn't think that his lead was the least bit unusual. He pointed out that South didn't have any real reason to bid three diamonds since he was on his way to a slam in any event. Therefore South had to be trying to stop a diamond lead and Dave wasn't going to be stopped.

What do you do now?
A—Bid six spades. You don't have any real reason to bid this except that your partner is probably worried about the king of clubs and you have that card. Anyway, who wants to stop at five spades?

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding one spade, your partner has jumped to three clubs in response to your club opening. What do you do now?

Low-Protein Diet Helps Alkalinize the Urine
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have been taking Mandelamine for chronic cystitis. Whenever I stop taking the pills I have burning on urination. Various tests and a cystoscopic examination have failed to show anything abnormal. How is this possible and is the drug harmful?
A—The drug you are taking is apparently keeping your cystitis under control. This drug can be taken indefinitely if the dosage is properly adjusted.

Q—I have a bladder infection that flares up quite often. I take Azo Gantrisin for it. Is there a diet that would help?
A—The treatment of cystitis includes forcing fluids to flush out the bladder and dilute the acidity of the urine. In addition to urinary antiseptics, such as the one you are taking, a low-protein diet helps to alkalinize the urine.

Q—What causes a bladder ulcer? Can it be cured? Does it become malignant if it is neglected?
A—These ulcers heal very slowly. Local treatment through a cystoscope offers the best chance for a cure. Chronic irritation of the bladder may be a contributing cause of some cancers.

Q—I am a married woman, 24. For the past two years I have had a bladder infection. Just before the symptoms appeared I was doing yoga exercises. Could this have caused my trouble?
A—No.

Q—By blood is too thick. When I cut myself, it just clots. What can I do for this?
A—Offer a prayer of thanksgiving. Would you prefer to hemorrhage?

Q—What does my doctor mean when he says my blood is not clotting properly? Will vitamin K correct this?
A—There are several kinds of clotting defects. The best known are purpura and hemophilia. Vitamin K deficiency is only one kind.

Q—My doctor says I have too many platelets in my blood. What is the normal number and what are they for?
A—Although the normal platelet count is 200,000 to 300,000 per cubic millimeter, I have never heard of anyone having too many. They are necessary for normal clotting and too few may cause clotting difficulties.

Q—My blood is AB. I have heard that this type is rare and that I can give blood only to other AB types but that I can receive any type. Is this true?
A—Yes, but since there is more to transfusion than getting the proper ABO blood type the recipient's blood must be checked with that of the donor under the microscope (cross-matching).

Campus Talk on 'Order in Society'

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — A blunt-spoken President Nixon said today America is afflicted with a "cancerous disease" that is spreading violence and terror as a political tactic.

In an address for a campus audience at Kansas State University, Nixon declared:

"The time has come for us to recognize that violence and terror have no place in a free society, whoever the perpetrators and whatever their purported cause. In a system that provides the means for peaceful change, no cause justifies violence in the name of change."

After ticking off recent news items concerning the murder of policemen, campus bombings, gun play around California court rooms and vandalism against serious researchers and their work, Nixon said:

"Those who bomb universities, who ambush policemen, who hijack airplanes and hold their passengers hostage, all share in common not only a contempt for human life but also a contempt for those elemental decencies on which a free society rests—and they deserve the contempt of every American who values those decencies."

Officials at Kansas State University prepared the tightest security in the prairie school's history and two areas of the campus were set aside for demonstration.

Area Schools Get Modern News Program

How has education changed in recent times? One interesting way has been the increasing emphasis placed on the study of current events. To meet the educational needs produced by this growing emphasis, the Hope Star is sponsoring a specially designed, modern News Program for Hope and Prescott area schools.

In centuries past, those children who went to school in the United States or England received a very different "learning diet" from that given to students now. They often learned a great deal of Latin, Greek, and classical mythology. They were taught little science compared to today's youngsters. And, of course, most never heard of the subject of Current Events. Today, most American educators agree that it is vital for students to be informed about current happenings in our changing world. They are finding the newspaper an invaluable "textbook."

With this in mind, the Hope Star is furnishing the VEC News Program, free of charge, to schools in this area.

One part of the Program is a weekly filmstrip of news pictures showing important national and world events. The pictures are projected on the classroom screen. The teacher asks questions about news events related to the pictures, thus encouraging student curiosity and interest in current affairs. By creating this interest, the Program leads students to newspaper reading.

Along with each News Filmstrip, the teacher receives written guides containing background information and thought-provoking discussion questions. She also receives a Teacher's Guide with vocabulary and map assignments, class projects, homework exercises, and a review quiz. Monthly Study Filmstrips, which explore important current subjects "in depth," are also included in this educational Program.

The News Quiz published weekly by Hope Star is another part of the Program. Students and parents can refresh their knowledge of current events by taking the Quiz each Tuesday.

The instructional materials in the Star's school Program are prepared by Visual Education Consultants, Inc., Madison, Wis. VEC News Services are used in thousands of schools across the nation and in many American schools overseas.

Hijackers Warn They Won't Wait Forever on Demands Being Met

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Palestinian guerrillas holding 54 hostages from three hijacked airliners say they "cannot wait forever" for Western governments to release commando prisoners as ransom.

"Our conditions are clear, and when any government returns our prisoners, we will hand back their prisoners," Ghassan Kanafani, a spokesman for the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, said Tuesday.

The commandos hold 38 Americans and Israelis, eight Britons, eight Swiss and two West Germans. Switzerland, Britain and West Germany have agreed to exchange seven terrorists they hold, but not unless the PFLP releases all its hostages. The Palestinians are holding 13 specific commandos and other Arabs in Israeli jails, plus an unspecified number of others.

Kanafani said the Popular Front plans no further actions to force compliance with its demands.

An informed source in Jerusalem said Bonn and Bern joined London Tuesday in pressing Israel to agree to the Popular Front's terms. The British reportedly want Israel to declare publicly its readiness to swap, but the others are said to be willing to settle for a confidential reply.

One black man has been killed and a total of six wounded by police gunfire in New Orleans and Birmingham as officers and deputies mounted new attacks on suspected firebombers and Black Panther sympathizers in those Southern cities.

The New Orleans death occurred Tuesday night when four policemen hiding in a grocery store in the neighborhood where a gun battle had taken place earlier in the day shot four blacks with shotguns. Police said they had information the store was to be firebombed.

Three of the men shot were found in the dark outside the store and taken to a hospital, where they underwent surgery. The fourth lay under a street light for more than two hours until an armored car arrived because police said they might be exposed to sniper fire if they moved unprotected into the lighted street.

The grocery store was near the Black Panther headquarters that police raided during the morning.

In Birmingham, three blacks were wounded Tuesday when deputies moved in on a house occupied by members of the Alabama Black Liberation Front. Chief R.E. Belcher said the ABLF was "part of the Black Panthers or trying to be."

Jefferson County Sheriff Mel Bailey said the raid was conducted to serve an eviction notice. A volley of shots accompanied the action but it was unclear whether any were fired by the blacks, he said.

Shots were fired when deputies kicked in the door of the building and saw men holding what appeared to be rifles or shotguns, Belcher said. A rifle and a shotgun, both loaded, were confiscated afterwards.

The three wounded men and a woman were arrested and charged with resisting arrest and assault with intent to murder. One of the men, Wayland Bryant, 42, was described as the leader. All are Birmingham residents.

Even in Scientific Age You Can't Win Tangle With Rabbit Brush

By WARD T. SIMS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It seems inconceivable, in this age of science, that a person could tangle with rabbit brush and not come out on top.

But, meet a loser. Rabbit brush—the scientific name is chrysothamnus graveolens—is a plant common throughout much of the West.

To all but those who find it infesting their fields of grain or other crops it is rather attractive, with rich green stalks and leaves and a bright yellow flower.

My first—and hopefully last—encounter with rabbit brush came during a recent vacation trip which took in the Pineville area of central Oregon.

While stepped Les Hubble, son Dixon and I were trying to deplete the trout population of Pineville Reservoir one sunny day, Les mentioned casually that he had to hack out the rabbit brush on the five acres of oats he calls the farm.

Foolishly, I offered my services for the following day and that, simply, is how I found myself armed with a mattock ready to do battle with rabbit brush. At the outset, it seemed as though it would be no contest. Les also had a heavy duty mattock and Dixon was wielding a junior-sized weapon. "Now," Les admonished, the easiest way to go about it is to start through the field abreast. We'll make as many sweeps as necessary to clear the full five acres."

And away we went, tilting the chrysothamnus graveolens. The first 10 minutes or so were easy, even for a typewriter jockey who now calls New Jersey home.

One determined, accurate swing would usually separate a full plant from its woody root and I had visions of an early return to trout fishing.

But, the more I swung that infernal mattock, the more rabbit brush there seemed to be and 10 minutes quickly stretched into a half hour.

When I finally reached the See EVEN IN Paper Named in Libel Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. Dan T. Sprick of Little Rock Tuesday filed a $1,250,000 libel suit in Circuit Court here against the Arkansas Gazette and Dr. Dale Cowling, pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Little Rock.

The suit protested two publications opposing Sprick's candidacy for renomination to Senate Position 3 in District 18, which is Pulaski and Lonoke counties.

The suit objected to a Gazette editorial published Aug. 7 supporting Sprick's opponent, James M. Fowler. Fowler defeated Sprick.

The suit also objected to a paid political advertisement signed by Cowling.

New Regime Takes Over in Jordan

By ALEX EFTY
Associated Press Writer

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A royalist military regime, dominated by British-trained Field Marshal Habis Majali, took power in Jordan today and imposed martial law to put an end to the threat of civil war.

One of Majali's first acts was an appeal to rebellious Palestinian guerrillas to respect a new cease-fire agreement with the royal army, set to go into effect at noon EDT.

King Hussein appointed Majali military governor of the whole country and placed all districts under direct military control.

The king invested Majali with his own powers as army commander-in-chief and also gave the field marshal full powers over the nation's police and security forces.

At the same time, Hussein appointed a military government to replace the government of civilian Prime Minister Abdel Moineim Rifai, who resigned Tuesday night.

The new government, clearly acting under Majali's control, is headed by Brig. Mohammed Daoud, a Palestinian from Jerusalem, as prime minister. He is said to be fiercely loyal to the king.

Informed sources said at least one army officer, two soldiers and the 15-year-old son of the new military governor of the Amman district, Gen. Kassem El Malta, were killed in fighting Tuesday between Palestinian guerrillas and Jordanian troops in Zarqa, 15 miles from the capital. Guerrillas were also reported in control of Irbid, Jordan's second largest city, 40 miles north of Amman.

The new government said in a proclamation that its primary objectives would be to end internal fighting, assist the Palestinian resistance movement, and implement cease-fire agreements between the government and the guerrillas.

The latest agreement calls for withdrawal of most army units from the cities in return for the removal of guerrilla roadblocks, an end to their armed presence in the streets, and other shows of guerrilla force seen by the government as provocative.

It also replaces troops with police at embassies and public buildings in Amman, with guerrillas to be stationed outside the city's electric power station and other sites of recent fighting.

Most of a dozen earlier agreements were broken by the guerrillas.

King Hussein urged his people in a radio speech to give their "selfless cooperation" to the new government to help return the strife-torn country to normal.

AEA Plans Series of Meetings

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Education Association will hold a series of 18 district meetings to attempt to gain support for the AEA's legislative program of an increased $30 million appropriation for public schools from the 1971 General Assembly.

The first meeting was scheduled today in Little Rock.

U.S. Rejects Peace Charge by Egypt

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have rejected Egypt's claim that the United States has ended its drive for peace in the Middle East. They said everything possible will be done to get the stalled Egyptian-Israeli peace talks moving again.

Informants also said the United States still is trying to achieve "rectification" of alleged new emplacements of anti-aircraft missiles on the Egyptian side of the cease-fire zone along the Suez Canal. They conceded earlier U.S. demands to Cairo and Moscow to modify military dispositions in the cease-fire zone have been fruitless.

President Nixon and Secretary of State William P. Rogers are expected to urge Israeli Premier Golda Meir in meetings here Friday to resume the stalled peace talks under the guidance of U.N. mediator Gunnar Jarring.

The Nixon administration has been considering a massive new economic aid program for Israel and is known to have promised the Israeli delivery of 18 to 18 additional Phantom jet fighters this year.

The hope here apparently is that the new evidences of U.S. support for Israel will help overcome Israeli concern about the alleged strengthening of Egypt's anti-aircraft forces in violation of the military standstill agreement. The agreement was part of the cease-fire arrangement that Egypt and Israel entered into in early August.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad declared in Cairo Tuesday the U.S. peace initiative, initially launched by Rogers in June, has ended. But he also said Egypt will live up to its commitment to the cease-fire in the hope of some progress in peacemaking.

He said the United States had ceased to be a mediator and returned to a policy of supporting Israel.

A day earlier Riad had accused the United States of going back on a promise not to sell arms to Israel as long as the Jarring mission continued.

One meaning of Riad's statements appeared to be that, in the light of the prospective sale of additional Phantoms and the projected new aid program, the Egyptian government no longer would be receptive to diplomatic approaches by the United States on behalf of a peace settlement.

Officials here declared, however, that such approaches will continue to be made not only to Egypt but also to the Soviet Union which is Egypt's major arms supplier.

Other officials said it is not true the United States ever gave any assurance to the Cairo government it would not supply arms to Egypt so long as the Jarring mission was in operation.

Reports circulated here Tuesday that the United States had given a guarantee that Israel would not carry out a sudden surprise air strike against Egypt.

Officials said this "guarantee" was without any basis in fact at all.

Donna Has Grand Experience

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Miss Arkansas, Donna Jo Connelly, 18, of Hope said Tuesday night the Miss America pageant was a "grand experience."

Miss Connelly returned to Arkansas Tuesday after competing in the pageant last weekend. She was one of the 10 semifinalists in the pageant.

"I had a wonderful time but it's good to be home," said Miss Connelly. "Arkansas has never looked so good."

Miss Connelly said she planned to visit for a few days at State College of Arkansas, where she attended school, and then return to Hope.

Egypt Blames U.S. for Killing Peace Talks, Warns of Consequences

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt says America's military support of Israel has killed the U.S. Middle East peace initiative and warns that continued U.S. arms sales to Tel Aviv will result in even more serious consequences.

Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad pronounced the peace initiative dead Tuesday but said Egypt "is ready to respect" the Middle East cease-fire as long as Israel doesn't start shooting again.

Sources in Washington said the United States has not given up on its initiative and will do everything possible to get Egypt, Israel and Jordan back to the peace table. They also denied Riad's allegation that the United States promised Egypt not to provide military aid to Israel during the cease fire and the peace negotiations.

Riad told newsmen the Middle East dilemma must be returned to the Big Four powers—the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Britain—under a See EGYPT

Cambodian Drive in Big Trouble

By JOHN T. WHEELER

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodia's first major offensive against the Communists is in so much trouble that some combat commanders want to call off the whole operation, participants at a high-level meeting in Phnom Penh report.

The reports came as senior commanders directing Cambodia's first major offensive against Communist troops continued urgent talks with the military high command.

The commanders were said to be especially worried about a large North Vietnamese and Viet Cong force reported moving toward their rear, apparently trying to get into position to cut off the government forces' only withdrawal route.

Nixon Tour to Include Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's European trip later this month is being expanded to include a visit to Communist Yugoslavia—the first trip there by an American president, the White House announced today.

Nixon, who leaves Washington Sept. 27, also will meet with leaders in Italy, Spain and Britain, it was reported earlier.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there "were no plans at this time" to add stops in any other country but added, "There is always that possibility."

Ziegler ruled out visits to France or West Germany, saying Nixon would not extend his trip because of commitments on his October calendar.

Asked to be more specific about October plans, Ziegler spoke of "commitments that we are not prepared to tell you at this time."

The spokesman said Nixon accepted "a long-standing invitation" from Yugoslav President Tito and that the two men looked forward to "a full exchange of views on the international situation."

Ziegler said the President and Mrs. Nixon would spend one evening in Belgrade, but added there is a possibility the Nixons may go elsewhere in the country.

He said Nixon, at least for now, is standing by his initial plans to return to Washington Oct. 5.

The trip will be Nixon's second journey to Europe and his third foreign tour since entering the White House.

Sources said Yugoslav President Tito wanted a separate announcement mainly because he does not care to be lumped together with Spain's Francisco Franco or the NATO allies.

Overall, the emphasis in Nixon's new foreign travel is on the Mediterranean—a strategic sea on which the Soviets are increasingly challenging the Western allies' naval might.

Nixon will review U.S. 6th Fleet exercises from aboard the carrier Saratoga in the Mediterranean and visit NATO's southern European headquarters at Naples.

Ziegler said the trip is not linked specifically to the Middle East crisis or Arab guerrillas hijackings, but added Nixon will be discussing these situations in his talks with European leaders.
